TWO WEST ISLANDERS NOMINATED FOR BRODRICK AWARD AT LOYOLA

Two of the five nominees for "The Brodrick Award" are residents of the West Island area. The award, to be presented at the 75th Convocation on Saturday, May 29th, is a four year award going to the student "best combining four years of academic, athletic and extracurricular excellence," similar to the four years of accomplishment by Drs Robert Brodrick.

Mr. Layne Boivin, of 162 Beacon Hill Road, Beaconsfield, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Boivin. A graduating student in the Faculty of Science, major in Biochemistry, Layne played for four years as a centre for George Dixon's Warriors. He was selected as a CCIFC All-Star in his third year on the squad.

Boivin was also a member of the varsity wrestling team in his first year, and played intramural broomball, all the while maintaining a "B" average. He plans to attend graduate school in September, and continue playing football at the same time.

Mr. Dwayne Dudgeon, of 113 Beacon Hill Road, Beaconsfield, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dudgeon. A long-time friend of Boivin's, Dudgeon is also graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree, major in Biochemistry. A standout end for the football Warriors, Dwayne was a three-time CCIFC All-Star, and culminated his collegiate career by being picked in the third round of the CFL college draft by Calgary Stampeders.

A member of Phi Kappa Theta fraternity, Dudgeon also competed on the intramural level in basketball and broomball, and was assistant-captain of the football team this past season. Although thinking in terms of graduate school, he intends to give professional football a good try in the Fall.
